

FROM CHOLERA IN EGYPT.—The accompanying official dispatch to the Secretary of State, from Mr. Hale, Agent and Consul General of the United States at Alexandria, Egypt, gives a full picture of the ravages of the cholera at that place:

AGENCY AND CONSULATE GENERAL OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, ALEXANDRIA, EGYPT, July 7, 1865.

W. H. Seward, Secretary of State.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the number of deaths from cholera in Alexandria, according to the official reports per each day, from June 23, 1865, to July 6, 1865, as follows: June 23; 234; June 28, 205; June 29, 197; June 30, 186; July 1, 195; July 2, 228; July 3, 176; July 4, 150; July 5, 125.

It will be observed that the greatest mortality occurred on the 23, when the number of deaths was 234. Since that date the mortality has been reduced to 118—nearly one-half. This decrease is due to a strong north wind, which has prevailed since the 23d, and to which, which, it is earnestly hoped, my continued

From the interior we continue to hear that the epidemic is spreading very great, as many as 487 deaths having occurred in a single day, while private reports, from the interior, indicate that 1,000 die daily. At Tanta, at Zagazig, at Damietta, at Suez, and other places, the deaths are frightful. The physicians are unable to do anything, and the sufferers receive no assistance.

It is estimated that more than 30,000 people have left Alexandria since the malady appeared on the 11th ult. It is ascertained that 19,000 have been sent to the interior, and that at an average of two persons travel under each passport, the number of departures has been 9,500.

For three weeks after the outbreak of the malady the American community was happily exempted from the epidemic, but yesterday morning Mr. A. C. Panagiotaki, a citizen of the United States by natural-was brought to the United States, and I spent part at the University press in Cambridge, near Boston. After several years' residence, regretting, however, his adopted nationality in Smyrna, in the year 1916, he published a literary study of the English language by foreigners, and for at least ten years past he has been a representative of the "cosmopolitan" and "colorless" character: have contrasted him favorably with some others of the same nationality who have been called "orientalists." His age was fifty. I should mention that he is said, by the physicians, that the disease of cholera had been in his system for some time. He was a man who was in perfect health thirty-six hours before the sudden illness which, in the night of the 10th, he was seized with. He had inclined to regard him as one of the victims of the existing unhealthy state of the atmosphere.

The present is the sixth time that Egypt has been visited by the cholera—renewing in descending order of virulence the epidemic of 1817-18. The first outbreak of the cholera was of exemption has never exceeded ten years, the term between the preceding and the present.

It will be readily understood that in times like these, no festivity was appropriate on the 4th of July! I may assert that on that day the Excellencies, Cheffé Pachá, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Mourad Pachá, Governor of the Province of Aleppo, were both ill, and the ladies and anxieties did not fail to visit me frequently, and offered their congratulations on the day of the anniversary of the American independence, and their best wishes for the prosperity of the Union.

One American vessel remains in port, and he clears to-morrow for England.

I have the honor to be, sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant, CHAS. H. B. L. E.

P. S. At the moment of writing this dispatch receive the sad tidings of the death, at Calao, on the 5th inst., of the wife of the Rev. Gullian Lansing, American missionary.
